

Guide to Operating a Little League® Second Season: Summer and Fall Ball Programs

Purpose/Overview

Little League's second season gives leagues a great opportunity to lengthen their season and provide additional training and development opportunities to players of all ages. A second season program may be operated any time after the conclusion of the regular season and continue into early winter. Leagues may choose to run several additional programs: summer ball, fall ball, etc.

Several goals should be common to any league operating a second season program. These include:

- Provide additional playing opportunities to any interested players in the league regardless of ability
- Recruit new players, volunteers and sponsors to the Little League program
- Introduce new divisions of play within the league
- Provide an additional opportunity for players to transition to the next level to help retain more players
- Provide additional training and development opportunities for all players in the league

Benefits of Operating a Second Season

- ◆ Provides an opportunity to recruit more players and volunteers
 - Reach out to players who participate in other sports in the Spring (lacrosse, soccer, etc.)
 - Reach out to players who participate in competing baseball or softball programs
 - Reach out to parents and others associated with the league to get them involved in a small volunteer role during the second season (one day in the concession stand, assist in prepping the field before one game, coaching, etc.)
- ◆ Provide additional playing opportunities for players involved in the league
 - Presents an opportunity for interested players to continue playing during the summer and fall months when weather may be more conducive to playing baseball and softball
- ◆ Provides the league with opportunities to introduce and test new divisions of play
 - Players may participate in second season programs at the league age that they will attain for the following season
 - Leagues can offer players the opportunity to "play up" an age and see if there is interest in participating in a new division of play (Intermediate, Junior, Senior, etc.)
 - If there is interest, leagues can use a second season program to do a soft rollout and build interest for a new division of play to be offered the following season
- ◆ Provides players an additional opportunity to transition to the next level of play by providing the opportunity to participate at the league age that they will attain for the next spring season or to remain at their existing level of play to gain additional experience
- ◆ Provides leagues the opportunity to host league-wide clinics that focus on various skill areas
- ◆ Provides the opportunity to hold early registrations for the following spring at the end of the second season program

 - Interleague play may be used to set up games
 5. Operate a district wide second season
 - The District Administrator and District Staff in conjunction with the league presidents determine the levels of play to be offered during the second season
 - Each league conducts registration for interested participants in their league
 - The District Administrator works with leagues to complete any combined team forms as needed for leagues that do not have enough interest at a given level of play
 - The District Administrator/District Staff work with the leagues to set up a schedule and oversee play

Ways to use the Second Season to Grow Your League

There are a number of ways that your league can use the second season to increase participation within your program. These include:

- Conducting an early registration for the following Spring season at the conclusion of the second season – consider offering an early registration discount to players who register at this time
- Transitioning players to the next level, leading to increased player retention
- Registering players who participate in other sports and activities in the spring to introduce them to baseball or softball
- Expanding your league's offerings by introducing new divisions of play to determine if there is interest in adding them permanently (Softball, Teenage Baseball, etc.)
